

BOY OF 16 REMAINS IN ICY WATER 3 HOURS TO ESCAPE CAPTURE BY THE POLICE

Defies Combined Efforts of Railroad Detectives, City Patrolmen and Men From Fire Department

CROWD GATHERS TO WATCH PROCEEDINGS

Boy Was Wanted on Charge of Train Riding and Throwing Stones at Telegraph Towers — After a Chase Through Creek Lad Climbs on Ironwork of B. & O. Bridge and Effects His Escape in the Darkness.

Gilbert Hafer, 16, known among his pals as "Gib" Hafer, defied the combined police departments of the B. and O. and Pennsylvania railroads and the City of Newark, reinforced by the crew of the ladder truck at fire headquarters Monday afternoon when he took refuge in the middle of the Licking river at a point east of the B. and O. passenger station after being chased by Panhandle Detective I. O. Stoffer, who wanted the lad on a charge of train riding and throwing stones at Pennsylvania telegraph stations.

Wading in water part of the time up to his chest and most of the time up to his knees, Young Hafer watched the operations of his pursuers who resorted to various strategic moves to capture him. During the chase, a crowd numbering close to one thousand people thronged the banks and bridges, shouting words of advice and encouragement to the boy and hoots and good natured kidding at the officers.

The seige lasted from 2 o'clock assistance of several persons on the assistance of several persons on the B. and O. bridge, Hafer was drawn to the top of the structure near the east end, and escorted to the home of friends where he was provided with warm dry clothing and assisted in making good his escape.

Engaged in the chase besides Detective Stoffer, were B. and O. Detective George Mercer, Safety Director Wayne Collier, Chief of Police Blizard, Patrolman Abbott and Burke, Wagonman Moore, and Driver Hinger. Fire Chief Bausch and the crew of men on the ladder truck at headquarters.

The city police and firemen were concerned in the chase only as they complied with the request of the railroad detectives for boats and ropes to be used in their efforts to land the boy.

Chief of Police Blizard was on hand with his men to assist in handling the crowd which was in danger of the moving trains in the B. and O. yards and on the Pennsylvania road.

The chase started shortly after 2 o'clock Monday afternoon when Detective Stoffer snied Hafer as he jumped from a Pennsylvania freight train near the Licking river. He wanted Hafer on a charge of being a member of the gang which last week stole a ride to Coshocton and stoned telegraph and passenger stations along the road between Newark and Coshocton.

The railroad detective gave chase and when it grew too warm for Hafer, he dashed into the Licking river and waded to a small sand bar where he defied the officer to come and get him.

After coaxing and threatening the boy without results, Stoffer secured the assistance of Detective Mercer of the B. and O. railroad and asked him to get the assistance of the local police boat. The patrol wagon was ordered out by Safety Director Collier and the wagon went to the old East Newark fire station and hauled the boat to the Licking River, near the Pennsylvania railroad bridge. In the meantime nearly two hours had elapsed.

On the approach of the boat, Hafer dropped down stream from the small island and stood on a big stone near the abutment of the railroad bridge. Later he climbed onto a pile of drift wood. This perch proved unstable and the lad rolled off into the water up to his arm-pits. Fearing that he might be drowned, Detective Stoffer started to wade to the pile of driftwood but backed out after seeing the lad climb back to safety.

After the boat was launched, Detective Stoffer with an assistant to row the boat, made a dash for the lad's refuge. The swift current carried the officer past his quarry and this method had to be abandoned.

Hafer made another shift in his position dropping down to the B. and O. railroad bridge and taking refuge in the past his quarry and this method had to be abandoned.

GIRL BOUND AND DRUGGED IN PULLMAN

Cincinnati, Jan. 7.—The unconscious form of a young woman who later said she was Miss Evelyn Stewart of Jacksonville, Fla., was today found in her berth in a sleeping car on the Big Four train which left Chicago at nine o'clock last night. She had been chloroformed and an empty bottle which had contained the drug was found in the berth. Her arms were tightly bound behind her. The young woman was taken to a hospital, where she has been unable to talk coherently.

Physicians at the hospital declare she took the chloroform voluntarily. Forty-six dollars in paper money and a ticket to Knoxville, Tenn., were found pinned in her hat. The train attendants declare it would have been impossible for anyone to have entered her berth during the night and said that all occupants of the car had been accounted for.

Answer to Monday's puzzle—Heroine.

HE FINDS HIS CHAIR UNCOMFORTABLE

Rhineland-Walke, Police Commissioner of New York City, has had an opportunity to compare the relative comforts of a chair in the window of a quiet Fifth avenue club and the hard seat in Police Headquarters, with the full glare of the spotlight in his eyes and the din of investigators assailing his ears. It is quite possible that it is years for the peaceful atmosphere of the club. Since the murder of Herman Rosenthal the power of the spot-light has been increased by thousands of volts, and the quizzing of the in-quirers buzzes in the commissioner's ears like the drone of a million bees. The Curran Investigating Committee is looking into the vice conditions in Manhattan, and many millions of the law in the big city have been called upon to tell something of their knowledge of inside grafting. Walke has spent several very unhappy moments on the witness stand.

TWO FACTIONS IN CITY COUNCIL SCRAP OVER TWO MEASURES MONDAY NIGHT

President Harry Rossel Practically Sits Down on the Meddlesomeness of Councilman Dayton—Stasel Removed from the Finance Committee by New Arrangement.

Contests between two factions of the city council Monday night made the first meeting of the new year one a little out of the ordinary. The absence of John A. Prior, councilman-at-large, made the two factions equally divided and three times during the evening measures up for consideration received four votes each. Councilman Stasel allied himself with the three Republican members, Messrs. Dayton, Payne and Keller and voted with them on each proposition.

As a result of this alliance, three motions offered during the evening failed to carry on account of a tie vote. The president of the body, Harry Rossel was unable to cast the deciding vote as it was not a tie of "all members elected to council."

The first contest arose when Councilman Baker's ordinance, granting city firemen one day off in six, was read for the third time. After some discussion, the motion to amend to read "one day off in seven" was lost by a 4-4 vote. Messrs. Baker, Beckman, Muenz and Dwyer opposed the amendment while Dayton, Payne, Keller and Stasel supported the motion. It was lost. The motion to pass the ordinance was lost by the same sort of vote the first four named, voting for its passage and the other four voting against it.

The third contest of the evening was when Councilman Stasel sought to get his resolution instructing the city solicitor to enjoin the destruction of the city building, before the council on third reading. The motion to suspend the rules was lost. Councilmen Muenz, Baker, Dwyer and Beckman opposing the action while the other four favored it.

When President Rossel read his new arrangement of committees for the coming year, Councilman Dayton took exceptions to his action, holding that the appointments made a year ago, were for the full term of the members and not the year.

"Am I right or wrong," said Mr. Dayton.

"You are wrong," said Mr. Rossel. "The president's action was taken in compliance with Rule 8 of the 'Rules and Order of Business' for the government of the meetings of council," he continued.

"Have you a copy of those rules where I can see them?" demanded Mr. Dayton.

"I have," said the president, as he passed a copy of the rules to the councilman from the sixth ward. At the same time he said, "There is a motion before the house to adjourn. Clerk, call the roll on adjournment."

"Mr. President," interrupted Mr. Dayton again, "Haven't the floor?"

"You have not," said the president.

"Proceed with the roll call, Mr. Clerk." And the body adjourned with Mr. Dayton standing at his desk with the book of rules in his hand. "You slipped one across on me that time," (Continued on Page 2.—Column 2)

OPERATION BY NERVY DOCTOR UNSUCCESSFUL

Minneapolis, Jan. 7.—Driven to desperation by pain and his inability to find a surgeon who could relieve him, Dr. W. M. Beck, of Clarkfield, this state, stood before a mirror in his office, made an incision just below his left jaw, cut away the flesh from the point of the chin almost to the left ear, scraped the bone and he then sewed up the wound.

His operation, however, failed to relieve him of a growth which has threatened to dry the jaw-bone and today he is in a hospital, where another operation has been performed.

CURRENCY PLAN AIM OF CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Seeking to evolve a new currency system plan, to be recommended to Congress as a substitute for the one proposed by the National Monetary commission, a sub-committee of the house committee on banking and currency today began a series of public hearings that probably will continue several weeks. Representative Glass of Virginia, chairman of the sub-committee expects to conclude the hearings in time to frame a currency bill before the end of the present session.

CLERMONT MEN WILL HAVE TO FACE SCANDAL

Batavia, O., Jan. 7.—Former Directors Glancy and Brown of Clermont county's infirmary, and former County Surveyor Forman will have to stand trial on indictments charging irregularities at the infirmary. This was the ruling today by Judge Bumbach, who declined to overrule motions to quash, made by attorneys for the men.

GOV. NAMES COMMITTEE

Five Initiative Bills Presented to Joint Session Shortly Before Noon—Child Welfare Discussed.

Columbus, Jan. 7.—After hearing the three special messages to Governor Harmon, relating to the Panama-Pacific exposition, the direct election of United States senators, and the report of the commission on child welfare, canvassing the vote of the last general election in a joint session of both houses at which the five initiative bills under the new initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution were presented, the general assembly today adjourned until 10 a. m. Monday.

The organization of both houses was completed at today's session. In the House, Speaker Swain appointed the following inaugural committee: Representatives Lowry, Henry county, Democrat; Black, Wyandotte county, Democrat; King, Ash-tabula county, Democrat; Reed, Fayette county, Republican; Thatcher, Clinton county, Republican.

Shortly before noon members of the Senate adjourned to the House of Representatives for a joint meeting with members of the lower house and canvassed the vote of the last election. The five newly initiative bills were presented at this session.

Of course no legislative work of importance will be engaged in on Monday—that being the day of the inauguration. That out of the way, however, the legislature will get down to hard work. Delay in the completion of the list of committees on the house side has already delayed proceedings more than the administration leaders had intended should be done.

It is noted that in three important particulars Governor Harmon in his message went counter to the expressed views of his successor, Mr. Cox. He opposes a new penitentiary. Mr. Cox is for it. He stands firm for his one per cent tax rate law. Mr. Cox thinks it ought to be abolished. Governor Harmon does not want the state employers liability law made (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.)

Farmers, Sell Produce to Newark People Direct, Through the Parcel Post and The Advocate. Mail Your Name Today

The one thing needed to bring about a flourishing Parcel Post trade between the farmers and the Newark people is to get them acquainted.

Here is where the Advocate offers its services.

The Advocate will publish a list of farmers, their addresses and what they have to offer to Newark and will give six insertions of the announcement free.

Mr. Farmer, write your name and complete postoffice address including R. F. D. and Box Number, together with a list of the things you are prepared to furnish by Parcel Post with their prices—then mail the post card to the Farm-to-Table department of the Advocate, Newark, Ohio. This newspaper will make no charge for the service and your statement will be published six times free.

Mr. Newark man and Mrs. Newark woman, the Advocate wants you to know Mr. Farmer and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, meet Mr. and Mrs. Newark.

Uncle Sam, through the Parcel Post has already introduced you, but the Advocate wants you to get acquainted. The Parcel Post will be a fine thing for the farmer and will be a splendid thing for the city folk and for the Newark merchants who will now be able to supply with quick delivery merchandise of all sorts to every section of the country.

No "mail order" house can possibly succeed in a community as well as the local merchant, if the local merchant plans his business as intelligently and economically as is done by his big distant competitor. Hitherto the great mail order houses have had the advantage in buying and in distributing. Now under the Parcel Post the Newark merchant can deliver goods direct as he never did before. He can be the agent of the manufacturer who has no time to start a mail order house and no inclination to do it. The mail order houses will live but their great monopoly will now cease.

Farmers, You May Now Sell Your Produce

- direct to Newark people,
- fresh from dairy or garden,
- and get your money in advance, by mail,
- at much less than the old shipping and handling cost.

The New Parcel Post Has Made This Possible

The mail order houses know that their system of selling 100 pounds of goods at a time in order to take advantage of a low freight rate now goes overboard. With the Parcel Post the local merchants' prosperity must increase at once. The Parcel Post will give to the Newark merchant a delivery system as good as that of the greatest city department store and great opportunities await those ready to take advantage of them.

But to return to the original proposition. If Henry Jones of Hudson Avenue, knew just where to send for certain fresh country produce he would be glad to place his order. If Farmer Smith knew that Mr. Jones wanted his produce he could make immediate delivery. The publication of Farmer Smith's name and address and a list of the things he has to sell would solve the problem. Therefore in order to be of service to both the people of Newark and the farmers of this community the Advocate offers to print the names of farmers as they are sent in, thus:

Henry Smith, Box 16, R. F. D. No. 2, Newark, Ohio. Butter, Eggs, Bacon, Honey.

That's all, except farmers in submitting their names and addresses are also requested to give the prices they ask for their produce.

Newark folk and farmers, get together. You will be very useful and helpful to one another and the Parcel Post and the Advocate both want to do their part in getting you acquainted and in promoting the prosperity of all concerned. The Advocate wants its readers to know where the farmers are and where they can be reached and it wants the Newark merchants to realize fully the splendid opportunity that now awaits them in securing a larger share of the farmers' trade than ever before. Get together.

Newark and the Country should be great friends. Newark and the Country—you ought to be warm friends with great profit to both of you.

THE RETIRING GOVERNOR
(Ohio State Journal.)

During these days of preparation for receiving and inaugurating the coming governor, the people are not forgetting the retiring one, whose four years' residence in this city has endeared him to all. Governor Harmon will leave a community that holds him in high esteem. During all his residence here he has always been the same kind-hearted, generous-minded, whole-souled, gentleman; the thoughtful and dignified citizen, whose presence adorned every occasion which he attended. As a governor he was vigorous as a citizen, inspiring as a friend, warm and genial. When he and his excellent wife, whom everybody loves for her gentle manners, leave this community, its happiest wishes will go with them, and its tenderest memories will remain with us. We hope the governor will not fail to visit Columbus often, and as often as he does, he will find hands extended everywhere to greet him.

COMMISSION FORM TO BE DISCUSSED

The consideration of a commission form of government promises to gain considerable impetus in Newark as a result of a lecture shortly to be given at the First Methodist church under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the Church. The speaker is to be George Franklin Rudisill, one of the foremost lecturers of the season. A man of commanding personality, keen analysis, natural oratorical ability and exceptional powers to arouse a deep interest and conviction of those to whom he speaks, Mr. Rudisill's message should be of special interest to Newarkites at this time. He has been a close student of the commission form of government and will discuss the disadvantages as well as the advantages of the movement. Mr. Rudisill has the distinction of having been the man to inspire and inaugurate the movement in Ohio to secure authority to adopt the commission form of government in cities of this state.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Children's Headaches.
"Children," says the noted English physician Crichton Browne, "have no business with headaches, and if these occur frequently at any school there is something evidently wrong there. The headache girl is not unlikely to grow up an invalid woman, and the unstable mental state may develop into epilepsy." Few parents are fully alive to the importance of recognizing the signs of nervous breakdown in children during the school period and of taking steps to prevent injuries through overstudy and the anxiety that frequently accompanies study, especially during the high school period. It is better to consult a physician before it becomes necessary to discontinue the school work. It is more important that athletic exercises and games that will relieve the mental strain of severe study be provided for girls than for boys in the high school period.

LOW TAX LAW IN NO DANGER

New Administration Pledged to Harmon Measure.

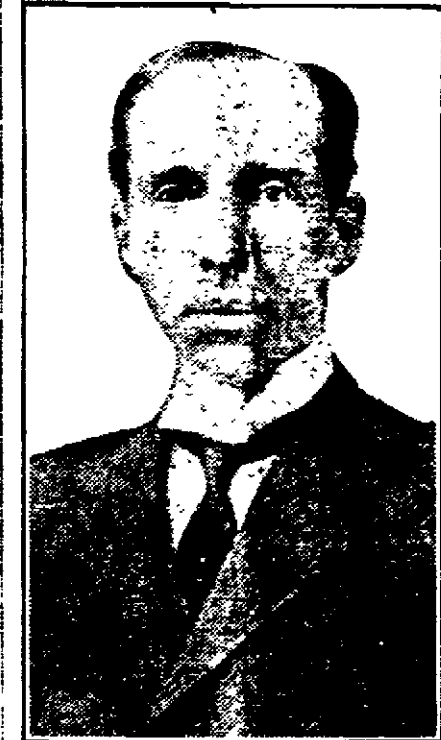

DIFFER ON PRISON PLANS

Governor-elect Cox is Ardent Advocate of New Penitentiary in Rural District, While Present Executive Opposes Plan in Message Received at Opening Session of Legislature. Skeptics See Motive in Grocers' Suffrage Proposal.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—While a good imitation of an April shower beat a lively tattoo on the roofs of the state house, the Eightieth general assembly of the Buckeye state came into existence Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the gavel wielded by Lieutenant Governor Hugh L. Nichols and Secretary of State Graves fell upon the sounding boards provided for the presiding officers of the senate and house of representatives.

The only important measure to come before the lawmakers on the first day was the message of Governor Harmon, who will retire from office after four years' service next Monday at noon. This provided plenty of discussion for the members, as it contained recommendations based upon knowledge gained from work done in the different departments. No work will be done until Governor-elect Cox is inaugurated.

Solons were not surprised to see that Governor Harmon took a different position to the stand taken by Governor-elect Cox, who announced he favored the building of a new penitentiary in the country. For years there has been agitation for a new penal institution in the country, but Mr. Harmon has steadfastly opposed it and was successful in his efforts in behalf of the old institution, which is located in the dirtiest portion of the city of Columbus.

J. R. CASSIDY.
Bellevuefontaine Mar is Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Governor Harmon has been influenced by the recommendations of a legislative committee, which visited the penal institutions of other states and reported against the new pen plan. He asserts that, following the recommendations of this committee thousands of dollars have been expended in preparing the Columbus pen, and that it will be a shameless waste of money to now abandon that institution.

The difference in the results obtained in the institutions at Mansfield and Columbus has always been regarded by leaders in the prison reform movement as a complete answer to the arguments of Governor Harmon, and as a sufficient reason for the transfer of prisoners from the soot and dust-laden atmosphere that surrounds the penitentiary in Columbus to a country place, where pure air and light may play their part in the reformation of the unfortunate men and women. The Columbus site is a valuable one, and the proceeds of the sale of this would make a big start toward providing the necessary revenue to pay the expense of constructing the new building. Most of the furnishings and equipment of the old penitentiary could be transferred to the new institution, and advocates of the Cox plan cite this to answer Governor Harmon's objection about the reckless wasting of money. The state owns a large farm near Morgan's Station, which is not far from Columbus, and it is proposed to erect the new structure on this, so as to avoid the expense of acquiring a new site.

Governor Harmon has always been a staunch advocate of the 1 per cent law, and he recommends that the present law be strengthened, which is just what Governor-elect Cox wants. The latter has announced that the principle of the low tax rate law must be maintained, and the taxpayers need not fear that the measure will be weakened.

Other subjects touched upon in the message have been commented upon freely in the newspapers. The governor made no recommendations with reference to legislation to which the party is committed. He deemed it the better course to leave that to his successor.

Suffragets were greatly surprised to learn that the Ohio Retail Grocers' association has been converted to their cause. Had this organization assisted the female crusaders at the special election last September the women would have polled many more votes for the proposed constitutional amendment extending the franchise to them than were cast. No one heard of the grocers closing their stores to go out and advocate the placing of the ballot in the hands of the women during the spirited campaign the gentler sex waged a few months ago. As the suffragists did not proselytizing among grocers, they were as much surprised as the Columbus statesmen when it was announced that the grocers' association had made use of the initiative to get the ballot for women. The grocers are not so generous as to stand for a lifting of the bars and to permit females to vote on every question. The new measure would extend the franchise only to female taxpayers on bond issues.

It is said the grocers, who, in the aggregate, pay an enormous sum in taxes, expect municipal extravagance to run riot under the new home rule amendment to the constitution, and they want the help of women taxpayers to curtail the spendthrifts. Under the home rule amendment cities or villages have the right to acquire or extend public utilities, and grants of new authority were made for the acquisition of additional public property. This is to be done by ordinance and there is to be a referendum election on each. The grocers want the women to vote on these measures, which of course carry bond issues when property is to be acquired.

Skeptics who are always hunting for black gentlemen in wood piles assert the real purpose of the proposed measure is to nullify this constitutional grant. The story from Cleveland, that is being repeated about the state house, is that grocers heard of the plan of Mayor Baker to reduce the cost of living by establishing a municipal market in which produce is to be sold at a figure slightly above cost. Such an establishment would cut deep into the dividends of grocers and commission men, and, it is reported, the new bill was drawn to prevent the encroachment by the city that is proposed.

Those solons who hoped that their time would not be consumed during the present session with the struggle about workmen's compensation are to be disappointed. This question, which, in past sessions, has proved so troublesome will bob up again. As usual, the participants will be the members of labor unions, on one side, and private liability insurance companies, on the other. The labor unions will be reinforced this session, by the state liability board of awards, which administers the fund that has been raised under the provisions of the law passed two years ago.

Three bills are to be introduced, two in behalf of the state board, and one, which will follow the Michigan law, in behalf of the private companies. One of the state bills is designed to prevent private companies guaranteeing protection where there has been a failure to obey statutory requirements. The other state bill will probably provide for compulsory insurance, although the agitation in favor of such a measure has subsided since the state board reported that such a law is not needed to enable the state to carry on this feature of its work.

The private companies favor the Michigan law, because it permits several different kinds of insurance, and this would enable them to continue in business.

Following the caucus of Democratic senators last Saturday there was printed highly sensational reports about the specter of the bribery scandal, that tainted the last general assembly, stalking into the room, laying its ghastly hands upon one Dwight Matchette of Dark county and wrenching him from the place as message clerk of the senate, to which he had been tentatively assigned by the committee on employes and retrenchment of the upper house of the general assembly.

One suffering with a distorted imagination might have seen the apparition, but no one with normal vision saw such a spirit in the caucus. It was reported that Matchette was punished by those friendly to the convicted solons, because of testimony he gave during the bribery trials that incriminated the defense put up by those unfortunate men. The truth about the matter is that Matchette made himself obnoxious to one political faction in his district, and members of it set out to prevent his obtaining employment in the senate.

When the senate convened Monday Senator Kiser, who is from Matchette's district, stated that a fight between political factions was responsible for the fight against the aspirant, and the action declared he preferred to remain neutral. For that reason Senator Kiser asked that no patronage be given to this district. Senator Green asserted that misrepresentations had been made about the subject and he expressed a desire that corrections be made.

SOCIETY

RUSSELL-VOGT.

Ralph M. Rossel and Miss Eva Vegt of Akron, O., were married in that city Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock at St. Vincent's church by Rev. Father Mahar, who celebrated the nuptial high mass. The bride was handsomely gowned in white chiffon over silver cloth and wore a head ornament of aigrettes with a pearl pendant.

The bride attendants were Mr. Gene Schlegel of Newark and Miss Pauline Menegay of Akron, the bridesmaid wearing a splendid creation of white and old gold with a head dress similar to the bride's, both carrying American beauty roses.

The church organist played wedding music from Lohengrin as the wedding party marched up the church aisle and as they left after the ceremony the choir softly sang a recessional. An elegant wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, the tables being decorated with white and red roses, a basket of American Beauty roses forming the center piece. At the conclusion of the breakfast Mr. Schlegel speaking for the assembled guests felicitated the young couple on the event and wished them God-speed on a honeymoon trip to Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore and New York. At the depot upon their departure they were showered with rice and slips.

Mr. Schlegel and Miss Menegay accompanied them as far as Cleveland. Upon their return the newly wedded couple will be at home to their friends after Feb. 1 in a cozy bungalow on East Market street.

The bride is a charming and handsome young lady, being the daughter of Mr. Mary J. Vegt, and is a great favorite in the younger social set of Akron. Mr. Rossel is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rossel of this city and for a number of years was in the offices of the B. & O. railway in this city. For the past several years he has been a valued employee of the Goodrich Rubber Co., holding an important position in the booking office of the shipping department of the company. His many friends in this city extend felicitations.

Mrs. Phillips' Sunday school class of the First M. E. church, will meet at the home of Mrs. H. Henthorn, 23 Leroy street, Wednesday, January 8 at 2:30 p. m. All are cordially invited.

The first meeting of the Ladies Division club of the new year, will be held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Burch in Elizabeth street, Thursday afternoon.

Over three hundred persons attended the reception for new members at the Fifth Street Baptist church Monday evening, in spite of the inclemency of the weather, and enjoyed one of the most pleasant social sessions the Fifth street church has experienced in many years. The newly decorated church parlors were crowded until after ten o'clock with a happy, talkative throng, and the spirit of fellowship prevailed throughout the evening.

The new members of the church were given a badge as they entered the parlors, and soon found themselves as earnestly interested in "making someone else feel at home" as the older members. Banks of palms and ferns, as well as the stars and stripes, were used in decorating the room. Shortly after 9 o'clock, a short program was rendered, including recitations by Miss Sherbourne, duets by Masters Donald and Frederick Cross, and additional piano selections by a number of the young ladies of the church.

The new members were officially welcomed by Dr. Henry O. Rowlands, as presiding officer of the evening's festivities, his remarks being responded to by one of the new members of the institution. Light refreshments, consisting of fruit sherbet and cakes, were then served.

A surprise party was given in honor of Miss Ruth Shrake at her home on West Church street Friday evening. The evening was spent in playing games after which dainty refreshments were served.

Those present were Misses Gladys Smith, Mildred Humphrey, Mildred Lees, Eva Wolfe, Edith Cramer, Wilma Armstrong, Lois Marple, Ruth Daley, Mary Kaiser, Messrs. Richard Fatig, Leslie Parish, Harold Solinger, Raymond Hanks, Ralph McLaughlin, Robert Lees, John DeFreese, Carl Somers, Edmund Bonham, Frank Stoon, William Beurhinde, and Miss Lucille Carter of Coshocton.

The Minerva club will meet with Mrs. Clifford Roney, 62 North street, on Wednesday afternoon.

Misses Lola and Mina Anderson entertained at their home north of Reform on New Year's night a number of their friends. The evening was spent in games and music and at a late hour a bounteous supper was served the following: Misses Della Smith, Bernice Hoyt, Mary Lothes Gladys Robb, Delphia Pratto, Lulu Baughman, Ida Scanton, Messrs. Barry Patton, Frank Smith, Elmer Lothes, Roy McCann, Everett Noland, Charles Lothes, Everett Claggett and Merrill Scanton.

Monday's meeting of the Monday Taks was held with Mrs. E. T. Johnson, of Hudson avenue. Following is the program that was given: Hawaiian Folk Tales—Mrs. Schroeder.

Legends from Canada—Miss Laura Jones.

Folk Lore of Mexico—Miss Webb.

This week we will sell all of our Trimmed Hats for $1.98, $3.98 and $5.00. Come in and look them over.

CHARGE ITALIANS BELONG TO BAND OF BLACK HAND

Charged with an affidavit with carrying concealed weapons, Rocco Rizzo, Dominico Cardarone and Franzo aporoso, three Italians, were arrested early this morning by Captain Charles Swank and a squad of patrolmen.

While the specific charge in the affidavit is as given above, it is alleged by the affiant, Frank Molano, that these three, with three others not yet apprehended compelled him to join a secret society, which he declares, is a Black Hand organization.

The men were released under bond and will get a hearing before Mayor Swartz. It is specified in the affidavit that these men carried revolvers and dirks and an interesting hearing will probably result as the witnesses and defendants are all Italians, talking out little English.

Rizzo is a leader of the Italian colony in Newark and vicinity and has for more than a year been in charge of a gang of foreign laborers in the gas fields.

Three other defendants named in the affidavit are Carmelo Rocco, Carlo Confoto and Carmelo Rocco. They have not been apprehended. The case was set for trial Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, but it is probable that a continuance will be granted.

Chief of Police Blizard stated that he did not deem it necessary to confine the defendants in a steel cage as the police department did not regard them as a particularly blood-thirsty lot.

Proclamation

Mr. E. T. ABBOTT
Coshocton, Ohio

is WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTOR for

Old Style Lager

It is sold locally in NEWARK, OHIO by

GENE SCHLEGEL of the "BISMARCK"

You should try it at once. Watch for the Green Label—it predominates wherever good beer is sold.

It is the outgrowth of a lifetime of brewing experience. Our Brew-Master learned the business in Germany over 50 years ago, therefore there is a reason for the individuality about the "Heileman Way" of making beer that puts "Old Style Lager"—the beer with a snap to it—in a class of its own—and brings back pleasant recollections of the Fatherland.

It is the real merit—the genuine value that is responsible for the unprecedented demand. It has honestly won its popularity. It is not chance that has made "Old Style Lager" the best.

It is not the material alone that produces good beer, it's the knack of knowing how to blend the different materials to get that snappy taste and aromatic flavor that makes "Old Style Lager" so much different from other beers.

THE BEER WITH A SNAP TO IT!

AMUSEMENTS

"A Modern Eve" Has An Interesting Story.

Seldom in the history of musical comedy has a more interesting story, more humorously told, been unfolded to the theatre-goers than that contained in the Mori H. Singer success, "A Modern Eve," which comes to the Auditorium Saturday matinee and night, Jan. 11.

The story deals with the attempt of a strong-minded woman, who has assumed command of her own household, to rear her two daughters along her own uncompromising lines of marital rights, for women. To her tenderness in a woman is weakness and love a species of mental disorder. One of her daughters becomes an artist, the other a physician. The mother essays to be a Portia—a virago-like Portia, always ready to split hairs to turn the scales of justice so that the pound of flesh may be taken from next the masculine heart.

When love comes to the daughters of this Modern Eve, the conflicting emotions implanted by nature and inculcated by early training give broad scope to witty epigrams and droll turned phrases. The Adam of this Modern Eve displays, while at home about as much temperance as a bottle of milk, but when his faithful wife visits her club, he is away to where the bright lights are dimmed only by dawn and indulges in flirtations which help to complicate matters considerably.

The wooing of the daughters, the repression of the father and the dominance of the mother are carried through two laugh-provoking and musical acts on a whirlwind of action by the large company. Among the songs, "You're Such a Lonesome Moon Tonight," "Rita, My Margaret," "Hello, Sweetheart," "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love?" and "I'm Leaving Home Now." The famous Singer beauty chorus and the sensational Dancing Four are a part of the big singer organization. The sea sale opens on Thursday.

Bial-Tolin Players.

There are three points of merit in the Bial-Tolin Players, who will be at the Auditorium all next week. First, a carefully selected company, which includes Miss Agnes Bial, a charming leading lady, and Mr. Frank Tobin, a leading man with ability, youth and experience; second, the productions, as each play is mounted with special scenery; third, the plays, and they are what plays should be, famous and interesting. On Monday evening the company presents "The Lost Paradise," followed during the week by "Going Some," "Noths," "The Spenders," "The Minister's Son," "Monte Cristo," "The Manxman," and "The Chauffeur." Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

The Orpheum.

One of the best shows of the season is now on at the Arcade theatre. Every act on the bill is a feature and special scenery is used in some of the acts. The audience was only fair yesterday, but the show went like wildfire on each act received merited applause.

The first act on the bill was the Acrobatic Fowlers and it is very clever, introducing new features different from any other acrobatic act this season. The lady, Mrs. Fowler, is the best in her line ever seen at the play house.

Billy Doss the black-face comedian, was the next on the program. He opens his act by first telling the audience he is next, which starts the laugh and his never stops all the time he is before the audience. He uses new jokes and up-to-date songs.

Next comes the Three Troupers and they are three real ones. All the gentlemen are clever singers, and Mr. Lew Briggs is an excellent comedian. Mr. Arthur Fulton has a wonderful voice and surely made good with his songs. Mr. Roberts is also very clever and this act alone is well worth the price of admission.

The rural comedy sketch by Harris and Randall closes the show. Special scenery is used for this act. The scene is a country store and everything is used to make it complete. The work done by Mr. Frank Harris is very good; he takes the part of the storekeeper, the owner, house manager, the bill poster, the express man and the town constable. Everything he does brings a laugh. Miss Randall takes the part of a city girl in advance of the show troupe which is to play the town extra house. The first thing the lady does is to give an I. O. U. to the manager of the opera house for $20, then the fun starts. This is the best sketch that has ever played the Orpheum and is a sure cure for the blues. The bill should bring out capacity houses during its stay in the city.

The Pink Lady.

An offering so well known that it needs no further introduction than the announcement of its date is booked for one performance at the Auditorium on Jan. 23. It is "The Pink Lady," the international musical comedy de luxe which Klaw & Erlanger are sending on tour after its phenomenal run of a year at the New Amsterdam theatre in New York City, where it broke every record known in the way of receipts and public appreciation of a good thing, and in London Eng. Everywhere has dined and danced to the music of this delightful presentation but such numbers as are familiar are only a very small part of what is by all odds the neatest and prettiest he knows very well.

"I hope you are enjoying the performance," said Mr. Singer.

"Very much indeed," complimented the clergyman, "but why have an unnecessary scandal in the show?"

Scandal! gasped the producer.

"Why, 'A Modern Eve' is the sweetest, cleanest, daintiest musical comedy in the world. Mothers bring their daughters, husbands their wives and young men their sweethearts to see it because of its pure atmosphere. Where do you see a scandal?"

"Well," smiled the observant clergyman, "while you have a marriage ceremony at the end of the first scene, your minister and the bridal couple never complete the wedding ceremony, and yet they are living happily together in the second act."

"Why, they even received the wedding ring," remonstrated Mr. Singer.

"But the minister never pronounces them man and wife, in place of which the bridegroom breaks into an ecstatic song," asserted the critic.

All of which was true. Upon looking over the manuscript, it was found that the wedding scene was complete, even as the critical minister desired, but the stage manager, when questioned, admitted that he had cut out the final words of the wedding ceremony, in order to put in four more bars of the lively song so the scene would not drag.

OBITUARY

HENRY BONER.

Henry Boner, for many years an assessor in this city died at his home in South Second street Tuesday morning at 1:40 as the result of a stroke of paralysis. At the time of his death Mr. Boner was 66 years of age.

Mr. Boner had been down town on Monday afternoon and the first warning of the fatal stroke came as he was on his way home. It was not severe enough to alarm him to any extent and on his arrival home he seated himself at the supper table. Almost without warning he fell from his chair and from that time on he weakened perceptibly, the end coming shortly before 2 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The decedent was among the better known residents of the city, his business bringing him in contact with hundreds of people in all parts of Newark.

In addition to friends without number Mr. Boner's death is mourned by a widow and one daughter, Miss Mamie and a brother, Adam, of South Second street.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, interment at Cedar Hill.

JAMES CUMSTOCK.

James Cumstock was born Sept. 9, 1829, and died Dec. 25, 1912, aged 83 years, 3 months and 16 days. He was married in 1855 to Margaret Anderson, who preceded him to the other shore in March, 1910, having lived together for 57 years. Besides his wife, four daughters were waiting to welcome him to the better land. He leaves behind to mourn his death three sons and three daughters, all well known in this vicinity; also grandchildren and other relatives and many friends.

Mr. Cumstock became a member of Kirk Lodge, No. 587, I. O. E. F., March 10, 1875, and was held in high esteem by his brothers, who have been solicitous for his welfare during these many months of his affliction. He was also a faithful member of the Baptist church, always found in his place when his health permitted and up to his present affliction, a member of the men's Bible class, seldom absent.

He was born in Leekington county and has always resided near here, except during the years of his service in the Union army. During the late rebellion he enlisted in Co. A, 85th regiment, O. V. I., mustered into service Aug. 21, 1862, and honorably discharged July 3, 1865, serving for a period of nearly three years.

He bore his affliction in meekness, thus expressing the true spirit of his Master. Now he has been called to his reward. On Christmas Day—that day we celebrate as God's greatest gift to men—that same God gave to our departed brother the greatest gift—the gift of an eternal inheritance in heaven, a mansion in glory, where he will dwell forever in the presence of celestial delights, ready to welcome all of his loved ones here as they join him on the other side.

May God grant that there will be none to disappoint him in not meeting him there. Funeral services were held Saturday, Dec. 28, at 10 a. m., under the auspices of Kirk Lodge, I. O. E. F., Rev. O. L. Martin officiating. Burial in Kirsksville cemetery.
